

Hello everyone,

I hope you are all staying safe, working hard and listening to your grown-ups. School feels very strange at the moment without you all- it's very quiet.

Just like Mr Dixon, I am spending some time in school and some time at home trying to teach my own children. They are both at high school and the work is really hard. Trying to help them with their French and German work has given me an idea for an Easter challenge for you all.

Today is the start of the Easter holidays, so your teachers won't be putting work on the website for the next two weeks. I know that staying in your houses is difficult and it can be boring, but it's what we all need to do.

To keep you busy and out of mischief here are a few things you could do over the holidays:

1. Bake a cake or some biscuits to feed your family. Cake will always make people feel happy. Please post pictures of your creations on Twitter.
2. Read a book - reading is really important. Choose a book or magazine which you haven't read before and if you read it with a brother, sister or adult then you can talk about it together.
3. You can't go out and share Easter eggs with your family and friends, so draw and decorate one to stick in your window for everyone to see.
4. Learn how to say and write hello in as many different languages as you can - maybe you could make a poster which we can put up at school when you return.
5. Learn to play a new game- this could be a card game, noughts and crosses, battleships, dominoes or even chess. It is up to you what you choose.
6. Finally - when this very strange time is over, if you and your family could travel anywhere in the world, where would you choose and why, what would you see when you got there, what food would you eat and what would you bring home to show your friends?

Try and have fun, and make sure that you eat plenty of chocolate. I certainly will be as I gave it up for Lent so I will be having chocolate for breakfast on Easter Sunday.

Remember to stay safe, stay indoors and be kind.

See you all soon

Mrs Tyrer

xx
